

In Moonlight
Wilmington, North Carolina
Photo by Dan Hardison

In Moonlight

Dan Hardison

The day is done
and darkness fills the sky.
All the beauty that was the day is covered now in night.

When the moon is bright and shadows of the day appear we choose what to remember of the day that was.

To glory in the achievements,
to learn from the failures,
to cherish the joys,
to embrace the sorrows,
to dream of what could be,
to long for yet another day.